something like that just for the East Coast, and at least a little here. You know, I was reading a review on a compression fitting for a water bottle for the longest time, and then another one popped up on my feed reader. When I clicked on the "read more" about it it took me to a little thing about the whole bottle thing, and what they have. I don't get why the friggin' bottles are so expensive, yet the fittings (when they exist) are dirt cheap. Go figure. Here's a picture of the compressor fitting I was talking about... made by the same guy that makes the little tank valves, a 5 gallon wall-mounted tank, etc.: _____ "My track bike must run at the same speed as my road bike.
